Summary

With a background in digital marketing, I transitioned into web development to better utilize my skill set. Passionate about leveraging web and mobile technologies, I have a keen eye for design and strive to create aesthetically pleasing, marketing-oriented, and user-friendly websites for clients.

As an advocate of clean code, I prioritize adhering to best practices to ensure that my code is maintainable, scalable, and efficient. While I have a solid foundation of skills as a developer, I am committed to continuous learning, regularly seeking out new knowledge through tutorials and self-directed study.

Outside of work, I enjoy watching movies, playing basketball, and taking long walks with my wife and son, whom I adore.
